MEMORANDUM FOR: Secretary, Publications Board

THROUGH:

Chief, Geographic Research
Chief, Cartography Division
Chief, Publications Staff

SUBJECT:

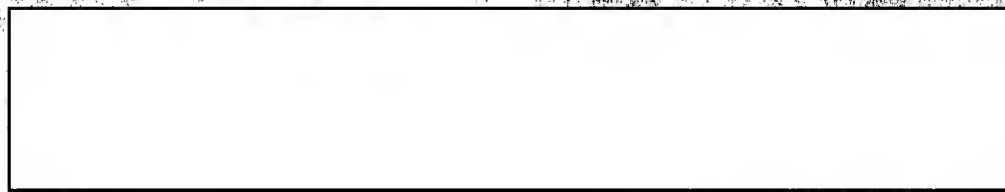

Dummy for China: Provisional Atlas of Communist Administrative Units

25X1

1. The accompanying copy of China: Provisional Atlas of Communist Administrative Units is submitted to the Publications Board for review and approval. It is intended that this atlas, a completely UNCLASSIFIED publication, shall receive normal dissemination among appropriate U.S. Government agencies and that, in addition, copies (with CIA attribution) shall be available for sale through the Superintendent of Documents to private individuals and institutions. The DD/I has approved the sale of the atlas to certain Governmental users.

2. Since the atlas represents a significant departure from standard OGI publications in classification, format, and extent and method of dissemination, the following questions require decisions:

- a. Should the atlas be issued as a OGI report, as was originally planned; should a new category of reports be established to cover this and similar reports that may be issued in the future, or should all reference to the report category be omitted?
- b. Should the cover bear the CIA seal?
- c. Should copies of the atlas be numbered in the usual way?
- d. Is the wording of the CIA attribution line on the cover and title page satisfactory?

f. Are univerts or additional notes of any kind required on the title page?

g. It is our understanding that the GPO does not sell or disseminate in any way publications that have loose-leaf bindings. If this is correct, could the atlases that are for public sale have permanent binding and those for distribution inside the Government have loose-leaf binding? Since the loose-leaf format is essential to any future maintenance program, this format should be used for all copies if possible and most certainly for those distributed within the Government.
